

MicroVest Capital Management announces new Chief Investment Officer and Managing Director of Equity

Bethesda, March 2nd, 2017 – MicroVest Capital Management is announcing that, effective March 1st, John Beckham, former Chief of Strategy, will become Chief Investment Officer. Doug Young, the current CIO, will take over the newly created role of Managing Director of Private Equity.

“I very much appreciate the fact that we are fortunate enough to fill two crucial positions with such high caliber candidates. John’s focus on growth and Doug’s attention to our equity business put MicroVest in a great position,” says Gil Crawford, CEO of MicroVest Capital Management, LLC.

Mr. Beckham joined MicroVest in June 2016 after nearly 20 years at the Inter-American Investment Corporation (IIC), the private sector arm of the Inter-American Development Bank. At the IIC he was the Managing Director for Clients, leading the investment teams in charge of all new lending and equity operations for projects, financial institutions, corporate clients, and SMEs.

As Managing Director of Equity Mr. Young, who has been with MicroVest since 2006, will be responsible for all the of firm’s Private Equity portfolio, as well as for the development and implementation of new equity strategies.
